
About the International Campaign for Tibet:

The International Campaign for Tibet (ICT) works to promote human rights and democratic freedoms for the people of Tibet. ICT does the following:

- Monitors and reports on human rights, environmental and socio economic conditions in Tibet;
- Advocates for Tibetans imprisoned for their political or religious beliefs;
- Works with governments to develop policies and programs to help Tibetans;
- Secures humanitarian and development assistance for Tibetans;
- Works with Chinese institutions and individuals to build understanding and trust, and explores relationships between Tibetans and Chinese;
- Mobilizes individuals and the international community to take action on behalf of Tibetans; and
- Promotes self-determination for the Tibetan people through negotiations between the Chinese government and the Dalai Lama.

Founded in 1988, ICT maintains offices in Washington, DC, Amsterdam, Berlin, and Brussels with a field office in Dharamsala, India.

ICT has received the prestigious Dutch Resistance Medal, the Geuzenpenning, and is member of the International Federation for Human Rights (FIDH) as well as of the governing body of the German Institute for Human Rights (DIMR).
